Much of the text in this presentation has been excerpted and edited from the Insect Identification flash cards on the Senior 4-H Forestry Invitational website (<http://www.aces.edu/n4hfi/page99.html>), but I have also incorporated materials from various USDA Forest Service regional websites and other sources. I'd like to thank my reviewers, Dr. Deborah Hill and Blake Newton from the University of Kentucky, and Dr. Yong-Lak Park from West Virginia University, for their helpful comments and suggestions.

Forestry Images (<http://www.forestryimages.org/>) has been a valuable source for photographs, many of which are different from those available on the 4-H website and flashcards. Dr. Bastiaan "Bart" M. Drees and Kris Light graciously provided the photos of a caterpillar hunter beetle and hemlock woolly adelgid infestation on pages 9 and 29, respectively.
